

Beroun

What the experts say

Generally open parkland course, running up to, over and around a hill top, with some attractive views and tighter lower wooded valleys. Whilst suitable for holiday golf, from the back this course plays tougher than its card suggests, with some imaginative bunkering and testing water, protecting often raised and occasionally undulating putting surfaces, including Furber's signature double green at 7 and 10. Respect its hand of impressive par 3s, and the closing holes of each loop of 9 (both requiring careful strategies to stay dry).

Although the Aria hotel represents very good value for a five-star hotel, for lower cost accommodation you need go no further than either golf club, both of which offer hotel style rooms.
