This is a unique copy of this book, specially printed for xxxxxx

The book describes our two Mediterranean villas, and gives some general information about their locality. Readers who are not already guests of ours are invited to visit mystays.net with a view to contacting us about the possibility of staying at one of these superb villas. Post contract, we provide guests with a comprehensive 'Guest Information Pack' which gives us and/or other contact details about the places mentioned in this book, plus further information about the villas' local restaurants, bars, shops, amenities and places to visit during their stay. Please note that the text and images describe the properties and other facilities at the time of their composition, and that inevitably there will have been some changes, if only through the course of nature, since publication.
